The Great Mobile Appathon

FSU is hosting The Great Mobile Appathon Oct 8-9. This is an excellent opportunity for students to learn about app development. All that’s needed is an idea for a campus mobile app. No coding experience required. Students will learn to build the apps on the Modolabs development platform. There are $10,000 in prizes, free food, and t-shirts. FSU’s winning team will advance to the final round against teams from ASU, Harvard, George Washington U and Notre Dame. The deadline for applying is September 30th. Students can apply alone, or as a team. Find out more at https://www.modolabs.com/appathon
MEET THE GEEKS!

The FAM-STATE Chapter of the National Society of Black Engineers is hosting a “Meet the Geeks” Involvement Fair! It will be held in the first-floor Atrium at the College of Engineering on Thursday, October 6th from 7pm to 9pm.

The purpose of this event is to expose new engineering students to all of the wonderful organizations located at the E-School. So, this will be a good recruiting opportunity for all engineering organizations.

If your organization is interested participating at this event, please follow this link to secure a spot for your group:
